Happy to report two days after the first Pfizer vaccine that the only lingering side effects are a barely sore arm and emotional instability over the fact that I can almost start hugging people again.

I'm really happy a lot of people are getting their first covid shots, but it seems from comments that there are people who don't quite understand how vaccines work. It still takes about 14 days from the final or original (if J& J) for the vaccine to be fully effective.

@LizWaynePhD I'm in CA. My son-in-law and several of my neighbors and friends received the moderna vaccine and were happy to get it. What happened to your father is disgusting. Glad he was able to get his vaccine.

@FreedomPanda19 @NicolleDWallace Robbie, as is yesterday Alabama moved COVID-19 Vaccine eligibility to 1C including 55+ / 16-64 Medical Conditions made it possible for my Husband and I to get first Pfizer shot today. <https://t.co/vtPQTdtQQq> very helpful. Happy to assist. PayingItForward as someone helped me.

@bennys777 @andras190 @SSarabipour @EricTopol @AstraZeneca @UniofOxford Yes, I was fired by AZ, you got me. That is definitely the only explanation for my interest in the highly entertaining saga of AZ mid-steps and data twisting. Covid risk varies massively by age and other health factors. Glad you are happy with your + wife's vaccine, stay safe

I was so happy to get Moderna vaccine yesterday. Today I can barely lift my arm, have aches and chills and fever 101.9°. More intense reaction due to having virus 3 months ago. Hope 2nd shot better. It is still worth it in the long run!

@ItsMrsRabbitToU Awesome Jess, happy to see you and yours getting your shot at the vaccine, no pun intended. I got my second Pfizer shot a week ago. So one more week until my wife and I are fully vaccinated! I only wish there was data on how long these vaccine shots last, any ideas?

The Moderna vaccine was approved for use in the UK on 08 January. We are not getting any supplies until sometime in April. Now, the EU would not be happy to have to wait that long. They would be getting out of their prams. #skypapers
